

BICYCLE ELECTRONIC CONTROL DEVICE WITH A RESET FUNCTION

Abstract

An electronic control device for controlling a controlled device installed on a bicycle comprises a programmed computer that controls the control device. A reset circuit receives information related to a traveling condition of the bicycle and provides a reset signal to the computer in response to the occurrence of a predetermined traveling condition.